Welcome to the new website: Prescrire in English

Prescrire is pleased to announce the opening of a new website, www.english.prescrire.org. This website has been created for readers around the world who look to Prescrire for independent information in English on drugs and other treatment options, as well as informed views on the crucial issues facing healthcare professionals today.

The watchword: independence

All the content on the new website is written and edited by Prescrire's editorial staff, made up almost exclusively of practicing healthcare professionals. All of Prescrire's managers and editorial staff sign a yearly statement certifying that they have no ties to the pharmaceutical industry. And the website, like all Prescrire publications, accepts no advertising, grants or other outside support or any kind.

Pertinent information on important issues

The new website features some free content in English, designed to share Prescrire's message of better healthcare for all with online readers around the world. This ranges from monthly news items to detailed Dossiers devoted to important international healthcare issues. Plus a collection of Prescrire's Positions on key themes including "Ethics", "Therapeutic progress", "Self-medication" and "Access to healthcare". Every month, a "Featured Review" showcases the latest topics covered in detail in Prescrire International, with full text available for download by subscribers. And for each issue a short review from the "New Products" or "Adverse Effects" section is earmarked for "Free Download", to allow users of the website to discover for themselves the quality and usefulness of the content published in Prescrire International.

Rich documentary resources

The complete table of contents for every issue of Prescrire International is available online. Users can carry out searches covering all the detailed reviews in English published since the first issue in 1992. Subscribers can register online, to enjoy instant downloads of their choice from among the thousands of reviews available in the rich database of past issues (see inside back cover for full details). Prescrire International's current and past editorials on key healthcare issues are also freely available for download.

Spread the word!

We hope you enjoy the new site. Please spread the word to any colleagues and friends who might want to subscribe, and to benefit from this new source of independent healthcare information in English.
